Youth Turnout in 2018 Midterm Elections

According to Tufts University's Center for Information and Research on Civic Learning and Engagement, 31% of eligible voters age 18-29 actually voted - the highest level of participation [in midterm elections] among youth in the past quarter-century.

High Turnout among Voters of Color & Youth reflected national polling indicating increased enthusiasm among these demographics. (Washington Post-ABC News poll showing significantly higher voter enthusiasm among young voters (+25%) and voters of color (+24%).
